

THE BELL TOWER
The bell tower of the building is a fine example of the architecture of the late 19th century. It is a three-story structure with a conical roof and a decorative facade. The tower is made of brick and is painted white. It is a fine example of the architecture of the late 19th century. It is a three-story structure with a conical roof and a decorative facade. The tower is made of brick and is painted white.

THE BELL TOWER
The bell tower of the building is a fine example of the architecture of the late 19th century. It is a three-story structure with a conical roof and a decorative facade. The tower is made of brick and is painted white. It is a fine example of the architecture of the late 19th century. It is a three-story structure with a conical roof and a decorative facade. The tower is made of brick and is painted white.